

RISK, POWER & GOVERNANCE

Managing and Overseeing Risk at the Top

EFFECTIVE GOVERNANCE IS NOT ABOUT AVOIDING RISK, IT IS ABOUT RECOGNIZING, MANAGING AND TAKING RESPONSIBILITY FOR RISK AT THE RIGHT LEVEL.

This four-day course focuses on risk management in governance, with a specific emphasis on the role of managing boards, supervisory boards, senior leadership and board room advisors in mitigating governance failures. Building on lessons learned from high-profile governance failures in the Dutch Caribbean, the course shifts the focus from hindsight to foresight.

Participants will explore how power, information asymmetry, political pressure and weak countervailing forces create governance risks long before a crisis becomes visible. Special attention is given to the legal and accountability dimensions of risk acceptance, supervisory responsibility and failure to intervene.
